Please declare yourself a tourist, not a business visitor. Complete only the top and bottom parts of the form. Leave the middle section and the lower portion of the bottom section for business visitors, blank. If you say that you are traveling for business, a tax may be levied on your stay.

Once you have passed through migration you will collect any luggage you may have checked and go through customs. Most of the time you will first hand your declaration form to a customs agent before loading your luggage onto the conveyor belt of an X-Ray machine. After you pick up your bags on the other side you will most likely be asked to press a red button. If the light is green you can continue into the terminal. If the light is red you have been selected for a random inspection of some or all of your bags. Just follow the instructions of the agents.

Transportation

To get from the airport to your hotel or Ciudad Universitaria by taxi, please take one of the Authorized Taxis (Taxi Autorizado). There are several companies that offer this service. You buy the ticket inside the airport for your particular destination. A sedan can carry up to four people and luggage that will fit in the trunk. If you need additional space, executive service vans are also available. Once you have your ticket you will walk outside the terminal where you will see airport taxis.

While staying in Mexico City it is generally better to take taxis at a taxi base or call a radio taxi rather than hailing a taxi on the street. Ask someone at the reception desk or the concierge of your hotel for assistance.

Money

If you have time, it pays to compare exchange rates before changing your Dollars or Euros into Mexican pesos. The exchange rates at the airport are generally substantially better in Terminal 1 than Terminal 2. A monorail connects the two terminals. You may be asked to show your ticket stub or boarding pass to use the monorail. The Perisur Shopping Center which is near the Radison Hotel has many banks that usually offer better exchange rates.

Weather

It is not expected to rain during the week of the conference. Temperatures will range from the low of 46 degrees F (7 degrees C) in the evening to a high of 78 F (24 C) during the day. ### Miscellaneous

You should only drink bottled water; do not drink tap water.

Mexican food can be very spicy so be careful to avoid stomach problems.

In Mexico you may encounter stray dogs. Their behavior can be unpredictable so avoid getting too close to them or touching them.
